

5 Ways Mobile Credential Improves the Student Experience On Campus

1 Mobile entry + payments

Say goodbye to costly ID printing and hello to provisioning campus credentials remotely. Students can enter their residence hall and pay for everything from tickets to late-night snacks – all securely from their Apple iPhone, Apple Watch, or Android Smartphone.

- ✓ Door Access
- ✓ On- & Off-Campus Purchases
- ✓ Meal Plans
- ✓ Stored Value
- ✓ Event Tickets
- ✓ Print & Copy
- ✓ Laundry
- ✓ Vending Machines

When I first heard about the mobile credential I was super excited. It took the worry of losing your Action Card away as well as making it seamless to get into places and pay for things.

2 Secure technology

Unlike a physical ID card, mobile credentials can't be replicated. And with decades of experience in Near Field Communication (NFC) technology, there's nearly zero vulnerability points for identity theft and fraud.

- ✓ Transmission security
- ✓ Encryption
- ✓ Mutual authentication

The best benefit of having mobile credential I would say is the peace of mind and the security that you have it on your phone at all times.

3 Virtual card office

Engage with students prior to arrival on campus by providing a 24/7 virtual card office to reduce and eliminate in-person visits. Transact Mobile Credential allows campuses to provision a mobile credential to students on demand while ensuring the highest level of security at the point of entry when students return to campus.

I use my mobile UCard all the time – like other faculty, staff and students, I am never without my phone.

4 Ease of use

It's a lot easier to lose an ID than it is to lose a phone or a watch. Students always have their devices with them, meaning they always have access to spaces and functionality they need with Transact Mobile Credential.

I lost my ID and had to pay ten dollars to get a new one. Can't do that if you have your phone.

5 Sustainability

ID cards, receipts, paperwork. All of these take a lot of plastic and paper to produce, and create a lot of waste. A contactless, paperless solution promotes greater sustainability.

“Mobile Credential allows us to use our resources efficiently. We reduce things like issuing plastic cards, which speaks to our sustainability part of our mission.”
